

Taking Care of Our Land Symposium 2019 List of Presenters (March 8, 2019)

Presentations are listed alphabetically according to the last name of the presenter. An exact time schedule will be released in the next couple of weeks.

Lauren Bell, Invasive Species Centre, “Invasive Species of Algoma” (Workshop)

Laura Boisvert-Marsh, Great Lakes Forestry Centre, “Integrated Assessment of Canadian Forest Vulnerability to Climate Change” (Presentation)

Ryan Bullock, University of Winnipeg, “Indigenous business leaders’ perspectives on renewable (bio)energy: benefits, opportunities, risks, and barriers” (Poster)

Kerry Ann Charles, Cambium Aboriginal Inc., “Adaptation Planning within First Nations in Ontario” (Presentation)

Sue Chiblow and Deb McGregor, York University, “Decolonizing Anishinabek Inaakonigwin (law) and Gikendaaswin (knowledge) Research” (Presentation)

Robin Clark, Michigan Technological University; Inter-Tribal Council of Michigan; Sault Ste. Marie Tribe of Chippewa Indians, “Gathering Giizhik on a Changing Landscape” (Presentation)

Tracey Cooke, Invasive Species Centre, “Invasive Species, Climate Change, and Community Action” (Presentation)

Pete Cott, Department of National Defence, “Environmental Clean-up of Abandoned Military Fuel Caches in the High Arctic” (Presentation)

Robert Croll, Great Lakes Indian Fish & Wildlife Commission (GLIFWC), “A Tribal Adaptation Menu for Culturally Relevant Climate Adaptation Planning” (Presentation)

Eriel Deranger, Indigenous Climate Action (Keynote Presentation, Wednesday, May 8)

David Flood, Wahkòhtowin Development, “Toward Full Participation – Wahkohtowin” (Learning Circle)

Sheila Gruner, Algoma University, “Land Rights and Governance in the Context of Land Use and Development Policy” (Presentation)

Don Jackson, “Shingwauk's Teaching Wigwam: Crucible for Cross-Cultural Synthesis” (Presentation at Algoma University)

Hayden King, Ryerson University (Keynote Presentation, Thursday, May 9)

Shauna Lapatak, Atikameksheng Anishinabek, “Developing Indigenous Environmental Keepers” (Panel)

Kathy-Lynn Morrish and Brad Cole, Zhashagi/Blue Heron Environmental (Workshop)

Wayne Penno, Stantec Consulting Ltd and Stan Kapashesit, Moose Cree First Nation, “Assessing Climate Change Impacts on Community Infrastructure and Developing a Community-Based Adaptation Plan” (Workshop)

Raymond Ruhaak, University of Liverpool, England, “The Development of the European Knowledge Economy and Systems and Institutions of Early Globalisation and Landscape Change” (Presentation)

Linda Savory Gordon, NORDIK/Coalition for Algoma Passenger Trains/Northeastern Ontario Rail Network, “The Iron Horse Travels Lightly on the Land” (Mi’kmaq VIA Rail Employee) (Presentation)

Dorothee Schreiber, “Bringing ecology back in: a panel discussion with the TEK Elders” (Panel)

Deondre Smiles, Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe, Ph.D. Candidate, Department of Geography, The Ohio State University, “Niwiidosemaa Aanikoobijiganag-Walking with Ancestors: Anishinaabe Bodies in the Settler Colonial State” (Presentation)

Isabell Souliere, Missinabie Cree & Mushkegowuk Council, “Environmental Steward Monitoring on Climate Change Impacts & Adaptations” (Presentation)

Paulette Steeves, Algoma University, “Caring for Relations on the Land: Respect and Reciprocity in Handling Artifacts” (Presentation)

Kyle Powys Whyte, Michigan State University (Keynote Presentation, Tuesday, May 7)

James Wilkes and Ian Attridge, Trent University, “Toward the Land's Return” (Panel)